

IMAGINiT Employees Recognized for Outstanding Professional Services and Providing Sales Leadership

BALTIMORE, MD – APRIL 8, 2021 — Earning recognition in two award categories at Autodesk's One Team Conference (OTC), two members of IMAGINiT Technologies' leadership team received the Partner Outstanding Professional Services Representative Award and the Partner Sales Leadership Representative Award. Autodesk bestowed these awards on these IMAGINiT employees in recognition of their continued excellence in delivering outstanding value to customers by leading their teams to pinpoint each customer's specific business challenges and deliver the best solutions. These two awards are in addition to the recently received Autodesk Platinum Club Award that was also presented to IMAGINiT at the combined One Team virtual conference on March 24, 2021.

"Whether they are providing customers with tangible business value by leveraging deep consulting expertise or coaching their sales team to understand and deliver exceptional customer business outcomes, IMAGINiT has again demonstrated excellence," says Ken Manoff, senior director, Americas Channel Partners, Autodesk. "IMAGINiT has invested in developing its employees across all divisions, whether it's sales, consulting, training or support, but Autodesk wanted to specifically acknowledge two individuals with these prestigious awards for their prominent leadership."

Scott Hale, vice president of Consulting Solutions at IMAGINiT, earned the Outstanding Professional Services Representative Award for his ability to lead a team that consistently delivers on customers' expectations, even in the most complex situations. His team's collaborative approach includes involvement with all stakeholders to ensure customers receive the best from everyone involved.

Jason Barnett, vice president of Manufacturing and PLM at IMAGINiT, was given the Sales Leadership Award for his ability to develop and lead a consistently high-performing sales team. Jason encourages collaboration and helps his team consistently set customers up for success by always delivering the right solution.

"Even after more than 25,000 customer engagements, we're always improving and we're thankful to have Scott Hale, an industry veteran of 30 years, and Jason Barnett with 25 years of Autodesk software expertise as leaders and mentors on the team," says Bill Zavadil, president, Rand Worldwide. "These two talented professionals exemplify the winning spirit that their teams carry into every customer commitment. We thank Autodesk for these well-deserved acknowledgements that serve as a reminder of what can be accomplished by being constantly dedicated to helping customers achieve their goals."
